

2022 reSHAPING ROCHESTER awards

Recognizing people and projects advancing the Greater Rochester region.

Award for Design Nomination Information

This award was established to honor late architect Robert Macon's contributions to the Rochester area. A gifted designer and leader in the architectural community, Bob is remembered for his civic contributions and transformative projects that spanned a thirty-year career in the city that he loved.

Nominations for this award recognize projects that demonstrate design excellence and contribute to enriching the public realm. The public is invited to nominate projects completed in the past five years and within the nine-county region that is served by the Community Design Center. Projects can include new construction or the re-use of existing structures.

There are three award categories: one for large projects, one for medium projects, and one for small projects (budget guidelines are detailed on the Nomination Form). A jury of individuals from a range of backgrounds will determine one winner in each category.

Nominations will be judged according to the following criteria:

- Excellence in a building or structure that has solved a design problem in a distinctive way
- Extent to which the completed project demonstrates enduring and notable design
- Success in integrating the completed project into a community's context
- Extent to which the completed project benefits or contributes to the public realm
